U.S. Imports of Textiles and Apparel Under the Multifiber Arrangement:

Annual Report for 1994

Publication 2884

April 1995

PREFACE

On June 15, 1993, on its own motion and pursuant to section 332(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1332(b)), the U.S. International Trade Commission initiated investigation No. 332-343. The purpose of the investigation is to compile and publish data on U.S. imports of textiles and apparel under the Multifiber Arrangement (MFA). The Commission had published similar data on an annual basis from 1981 to 1992, although not pursuant to an investigation under section 332. Under investigation No. 332-343, the Commission published the first two of three annual reports on imports under the MFA in June 1993 and March 1994, respectively. The current, and third, report contains 1994 data.

As of March 1995, the United States had quotas with 45 countries. This report presents data only for the top 35 supplier countries, whether or not their products are covered by quota. The country data are in terms of the product categories used to administer the U.S. trade agreements program for MFA-covered textiles and apparel of cotton, other vegetable fibers, wool, manmade fibers, and silk blends.

The MFA was a multilateral agreement negotiated under the auspices of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). The MFA provided a general framework and guiding principles for the negotiation of bilateral agreements between textile importing and exporting countries, or for unilateral action by an importing country if an agreement could not be reached. The MFA, which was in effect during 1974-94, was established to deal with problems of market disruption in textile trade, while permitting developing countries to share in expanded export opportunities. The MFA was replaced by the Agreement on Textiles and Clothing, which entered into force on January 1, 1995, as part of the World Trade Organization agreements. The Agreement on Textiles and Clothing provides for the gradual and complete integration of textiles and apparel into the GATT regime over a 10-year transition period.

An explanation of the abbreviations used in the descriptions of category coverage and a listing of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule numbers included in each category can be found in U.S. Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration, 1995 Correlation: Textile and Apparel Categories with the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (Washington, DC: U.S. Government Printing Office, 1995).

HIGHLIGHTS

Bilateral agreements negotiated under the Multifiber Arrangement (MFA) governed most U.S. imports of textiles and apparel during 1974-94. The MFA was replaced by the Agreement on Textiles and Clothing, which entered into force on January 1, 1995, as part of the World Trade Organization (WTO) agreements. The Agreement on Textiles and Clothing provides for the liberalization and eventual elimination of quotas on textiles and apparel over a 10-year transition period, or by the year 2005.

As of March 1995, the United States had quotas on MFA-covered products from 45 countries that supply about 80 percent of the MFA imports (table 1). Of these countries, 26 are WTO members whose shipments are subject to the terms of the Agreement on Textiles and Clothing. Limits on nonoriginating textiles and apparel from Mexico, a WTO member, are provided for in the North American Free-Trade Agreement (NAFTA), which entered into force on January 1, 1994. NAFTA sets forth a schedule for the progressive elimination of such limits by the year 2004. Quotas for the 18 countries that are currently not WTO members are subject to section 204 of the Agricultural Act of 1956; the Agreement on Textiles and Clothing also calls for the phaseout of these quotas during the 10-year transition period.

U.S. Imports

U.S. imports of MFA goods in 1994 grew by 9 percent over the 1993 level, to 17.3 billion equivalent square meters (SMEs) valued at almost $40 billion (tables 2-5). Most of the growth occurred in apparel imports, which rose by 12 percent to 8.4 billion SMEs valued at $31 billion. Apparel's share of 1994 imports was 49 percent by volume, but 79 percent by value. Textile imports totaled almost 8.9 billion SMEs in 1994, up by 7 percent over 1993. Imports of yarn and fabric rose by almost 4 percent, and imports of made-up articles and other textiles grew by 14 percent.

Import Sources

In 1994, the first year that NAFTA was in effect, Mexico was the fastest growing supplier of textiles and apparel to the United States. The volume of imports from Mexico surged 31 percent, or by 231 million SMEs, to 977 million SMEs, while the value climbed 38 percent, or by $525 million, to $1.9 billion. For apparel, which accounted for 84 percent of the Mexican shipments by value, imports rose by 50 percent in 1994. Apparel and other textile goods that are assembled from fabric formed and cut in the United States, which enter duty-free under NAFTA, accounted for 71 percent, or almost $1.4 billion, of the MFA-product imports from Mexico in 1994 (table 6). The overall import growth enabled Mexico to surpass the Dominican Republic to become the fifth largest supplier by value after China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and South Korea.

U.S. imports of MFA products from the Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) countries, which compete with Mexico for apparel assembly work from U.S. firms, totaled 1.8 billion SMEs valued at $4.6 billion in 1994 (table 6). Imports of CBI apparel, which accounted for almost all of the region's MFA shipments by value, rose by 15 percent in 1994. The gain is down from average annual growth of 21 percent during 1987-93, following the inception of the Special Access Program during 1986. The United States has agreements under the Special Access Program with Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Haiti, and Jamaica that provide for guaranteed access levels (GALs) for apparel assembled from fabric formed and cut in the United States. Whereas garments assembled in Mexico from U.S. formed and cut fabric are eligible for duty-free entry under NAFTA, such goods from CBI countries are dutiable at an effective rate of about 6 percent ad valorem (duty is paid on only the value added abroad).¹

¹ Legislation introduced in the 104th Congress, the Caribbean Basin Trade Security Act (H.R. 553 and S. 529), would temporarily provide CBI countries tariff and quota treatment equivalent to that accorded to Mexico under NAFTA.

Although China remained the largest supplier by far, the volume of its shipments in 1994 fell for the first time since 1988, dropping by 3 percent to 2.0 billion SMEs valued at $4.9 billion. China accounted for 11.8 percent of the import volume in 1994, compared with slightly less than 8 percent each for Canada and Taiwan, the next largest volume suppliers. The 3-year textile agreement with China that entered into force in 1994 provided for no quota growth that year and limited such growth to 1 percent in 1995 and 1996. A separate agreement with China signed in 1994 brought chiefly silk apparel under quota for the first time. Imports from China of such silk garments, which were not covered by the MFA and are not included in the trade data in this report, totaled $1.9 billion in 1994.

The traditional Big Three Asian suppliers of textiles and apparel--Hong Kong, Taiwan, and South Korea--continued to decline in relative importance. After decreasing from 3.5 billion SMEs in 1987 to 3.0 billion SMEs in 1993, their shipments rebounded by 3 percent in 1994 to 3.1 billion SMEs valued at $9.7 billion. The Big Three supplied just 18 percent of the imports in 1994, down from 30 percent in 1987 and from 43 percent in 1983. Their textile and apparel firms face rising costs, labor shortages, and growing competition from lower cost countries.

The growth in MFA imports from the ASEAN countries--Brunei, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, and Thailand--slowed for the second consecutive year in 1994, when their shipments rose by just 3 percent to 2.1 billion SMEs valued at $5.1 billion. They had grown by 8 percent in 1993 and by 25 percent in 1992. The growth in imports from Pakistan and India, other important suppliers, also slowed in 1994, each showing gains of less than 10 percent.

Imports from developed countries, led by Canada, rose by 15 percent in 1994 to 3.5 billion SMEs valued at $5.9 billion. Canadian shipments, which mostly consist of textiles such as manmade-fiber filament yarn and specialty fabric, have slightly more than doubled since 1989, when the United States-Canada Free-Trade Agreement (CFTA) entered into force.² In 1994 they rose by 18 percent to 1.3 billion SMEs valued at $1.3 billion. As such, Canada strengthened its position as the second largest volume supplier overall behind China, but moved ahead of China to become the largest supplier of textiles.

²The duty phaseout schedule of the CFTA has been incorporated and continued under NAFTA.

¹The 807 tariff item (now HTS 9802.00.80) provides a partial duty exemption for goods assembled abroad of U.S. components (duty is paid on the value added abroad). A Special Access Program established under the 807 provision for the Caribbean Basin Initiative (CBI) countries in 1986 permits eligible countries flexible and guaranteed access to the U.S. market for apparel assembled from fabric formed and cut in the United States. A similar Special Regime had been in effect with Mexico during 1989-93. Under NAFTA, which entered into force on January 1, 1994, apparel and textile goods assembled in Mexico from U.S. formed and cut fabric enter free of duty and quota under newly created HTS 9802.00.90. Such imports are shown for Mexico in the "special 807" column for 1994.
